

KIND

Share what we have with others.

What it's about; what it does for us...

...Feeling goodwill towards others; it pushes us to want to do things for them, so we can show our affection and strengthen our connection.

We feel this when...

...we feel warmth for others.

It makes us...

...try to include and make people welcome, do things for and care for others, and give to them willingly without expecting anything in return.
